ABSTRACT

The Tennessee Research Coordinating Unit (RCU) has implemented a computerized information retrieval system known as "Query," which allows for the retrieval of documents indexed in Research in Education (RIE), Current Index to Journals in Education (CIJE), and Abstracts of Instructional and Research Materials (AIM/ARM). The document provides easy access to those computer searches of the ERIC files which were completed during the period July 1973-June 1974 and to facilitate retrieval and use of both the computer searches and the documents listed within each search. Part A contains information for both the use of this index and the use of any computer search printout which the reader may desire to borrow from the RCU. Part B, an alphabetical subject index, enables the user to locate already completed computer searches of the ERIC files by topic area. Part C lists all searches, by number, and provides the following information about each search: the descriptors, or indexing terms, used; the group of files, or time period, which the search covers; the number of documents identified in the files; and the ERIC Clearinghouse(s) searched. Appended materials relate to the ERIC and AIM/ARM systems. (Author/MW)

DEFINITION OF TERMS

ERIC - Educational Resources Information Center, a nationwide network of information clearinghouses covering 16 areas of educational concern and administered through Central ERIC located at the National Institute of Education.

Clearinghouse - Information center responsible for collecting and indexing research documents and journal articles in a specific area of education. This information is then processed through Central ERIC. A list of clearinghouses appears on page 63 as Appendix A.

RIE - Research in Education, a monthly index of pertinent literature or information in the educational field gathered by all the ERIC clearinghouses. Most of the documents reported in RIE are available on microfiche.

CIJE - Current Index to Journals in Education, a monthly index that includes annotations of selected articles from 530 educational periodicals. CIJE documents are not available on microfiche.

AIM/ARM - Abstracts of Instructional and Research Materials, an index to instructional and research materials in vocational-technical education published by The Center for Vocational-Technical Education, Columbus, Ohio.

Thesaurus of ERIC Descriptors - A dictionary of terms used to index the documents which are processed into the ERIC system.

Microfiche - A 4" x 6" sheet of film which contains up to 98 pages of a document in reduced form.

Microfiche Reader - A machine required to bring the document pages on microfiche back to readable size. Portable and desk-type models are available at the Tennessee Research Coordinating Unit.

PREFACE

The Tennessee Research Coordinating Unit is one of a network of state units assisting vocational-technical educators and manpower specialists. Its primary purpose is to effectively and efficiently produce desirable changes in vocational-technical education and supporting programs in local schools, community colleges, universities, private colleges, and technical institutes which will make quality vocational education programs available to all who need and can profit from them.

The specific objectives of the RCU are to:

1. Collect and disseminate to appropriate audiences information on progress and application of occupational research.
2. Stimulate and encourage occupational education research and development activities in state departments, colleges and universities, local school districts, and nonprofit educational organizations.
3. Coordinate occupational education research activities conducted by state departments, colleges and universities, local school districts, and nonprofit organizations.
4. Conduct occupational education research and development projects.

The writing and dissemination of this publication is an effort to both encourage and assist occupational education research efforts both locally and on a national level.

INTRODUCTION

"QUERY"

A Computerized Search Program in Educational Research

Within the last decade, thousands of documents relating to education have been compiled in one central file by the Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC). This collection consists of research documents, journal articles, instructional materials, speeches, and other documents related to almost every conceivable subject in the field of education. The Tennessee RCU has all but journal articles on microfiche.

To assist users in determining what research has been performed and is available, the RCU has implemented a computerized information retrieval system known as "Query," ^{which} This program allows for the retrieval of documents indexed in Research in Education (RIE), Current Index to Journals in Education (CIJE), and Abstracts of Instructional and Research Materials (AIM/ARM)*.

Use of the "Query" system is available to anyone in the field of education, including administrators, supervisors, teachers, and students. It is especially useful for those engaged in research, curriculum development, academically-oriented problem solving, preparation of course outlines or course content, teacher development, and so on. Proper utilization of "Query" will facilitate a more valid, comprehensive, and efficient accomplishment of practically any endeavor in education, because of the up-to-date information which it provides.

*As of January 1974, The Center for Vocational-Technical Education in Columbus, Ohio, combined the AIM and ARM indexes into one index to be published six times a year.

The RCU library maintains copies of all completed computer searches.
The purpose of this publication is to provide easy access to those computer searches of the ERIC files which were completed during the period July 1973 through June 1974 and to facilitate retrieval and use of both the computer searches and the documents listed within each search. A cumulative index of earlier searches will soon be reported in ERIC's RIE index.

Part A of this document contains information for both the use of this index and the use of any computer search printout which the reader may desire to borrow from the RCU.

Part B is simply an alphabetical subject index, enabling the user to locate already completed computer searches of the ERIC files by topic area.

Part C is a listing of all searches, by number, and provides the following information about each search:

- 1) The descriptors, or indexing terms, used,
- 2) The group of files, or time period, which the search covers,
- 3) The number of "hits," meaning the number of documents identified in the files, and
- 4) The ERIC Clearinghouse(s) searched.

PART A: USE OF THE INDEX

PART A: USE OF THE INDEX

To determine whether or not the RCU has completed a search of the ERIC files on a particular topic, consult the appropriate descriptors in Part B to see if that topic is listed. Make note of the search number(s) listed under that topic and then consult Part C for more detailed information concerning each search.

The information in Part C is presented in the following five columns:

Search Number	Clearinghouse Searched	Descriptors Used	Number of Hits	Group Number
------------------	---------------------------	---------------------	-------------------	-----------------

The first column contains the accession number or search number by which each is filed in the RCU library. When requesting a search on loan from the RCU, this number is all you need to complete your request. The second column indicates the specific clearinghouse(s) searched (Appendix A). The third column contains a list of all index terms, or "descriptors," used to complete the computer search. A descriptor ending with / indicates that all descriptors alike to that point (/) were used in the search. For example, the term "Administrator R/" means that both the descriptors "Administrator Responsibility" and "Administrator Role" were used in the search. The fourth column tells the approximate length of the search by giving the total number of "hits" or documents identified in the files.

The fifth column, "Group Number," tells the group of files which the search covers. The "Query" files are brought up to date quarterly with new research which has been added to the RIE, CIJE, and AIM/ARM files. A list of the Group Numbers and their respective files is located at the beginning of Part C.

Copies of searches may be obtained upon request for the cost of xeroxing or RCU library copies may be borrowed upon request for a maximum of two weeks. Each complete computer search contains a report resume' for each document identified in that search (see sample resume' Appendix B, C, D). The report resume' provides the title and author, as well as other public information, for each document. The resume' also includes either an abstract (approximately 150-250 words) of each research document identified from the RIE and AIM/ARM indexes or a short annotation of each journal article identified from the CIJE index. Review of the report resume' will enable an individual to decide whether a review of the complete document is desired.

If the complete document is desired, the "EDRS Price" line in the report resume' provides information on the availability of each document (see sample resume'). If there is a price given for microfiche (mf) and/or hard copy (hc), that document may be purchased for the price indicated from EDRS (ERIC Document Reproduction Service). However, individuals in Tennessee have immediate and direct access to all microfiche through the RCU and its network of Regional Resource Centers (Appendix E) placed throughout the State. The cost of microfiche is 10¢ per microfiche and the cost of hard copy is 10¢ per page. Microfiche may be used in the RCU library or purchased.

If the document is not available through EDRS or the RCU, the "EDRS Price" line will state "Document not available from EDRS" and the resume' will list the source from which the document may be obtained (see sample resume').

Anyone desiring to use "Query" to run a new computer search may do so by consulting with the RCU personnel by mail, telephone, or in person and by completing a "Query" Search Request Form (Appendix F), outlining the topic area for which information is desired. RCU personnel will then complete the computer program and conduct the search. The user will receive a copy of the completed search containing the information described and should follow the same procedure in selecting and obtaining the desired documents.

*Vocational Development, Work Environment,
*Youth Problems

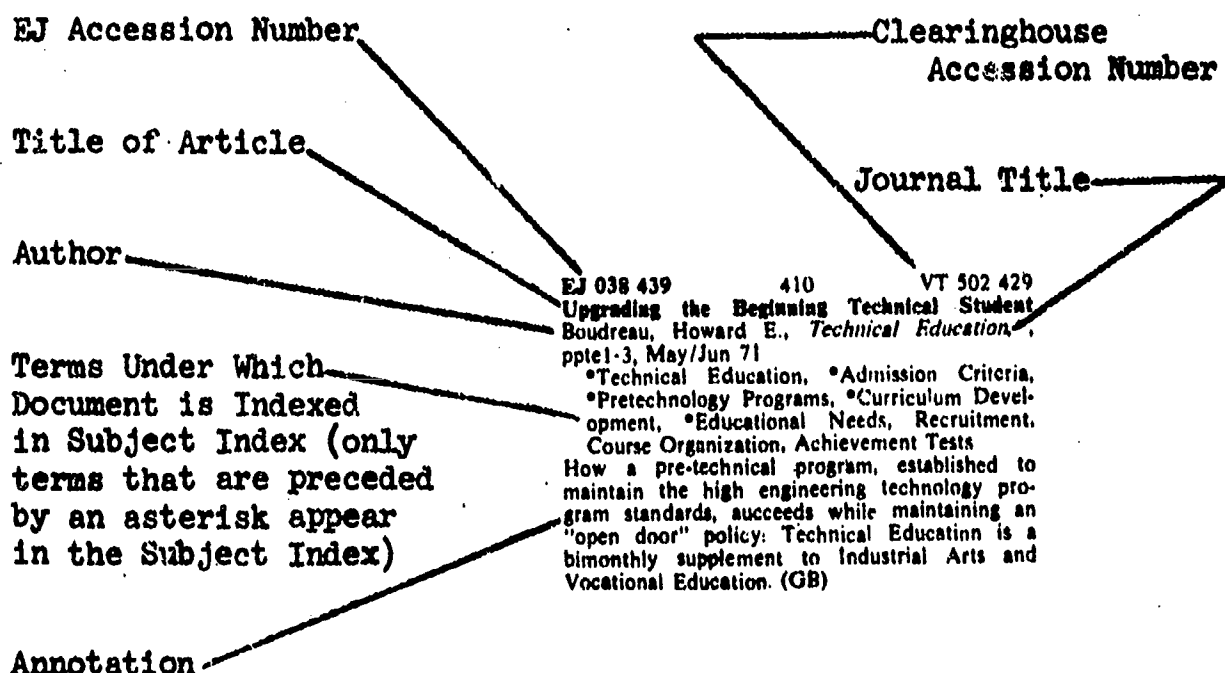

The problems which youth face in the transition from school to work are complex and challenging. Such problems have been conceptualized into a model which relates specific problems to dimensions of self and environment in three developmental stages: (1) pretransitional--the life period before an individual is activated to seeking his first full-time job, (2) transitional--marked by activation to seek first full-time employment, occurring during grade 12 for about one-half of high school students, and (3) post-transitional--the first job. Using this model, perceptions of the vocational development of New York youth were obtained from staff members in 40 schools, 27 employers, and 14 new workers. Suggestions for programs, activities, and facilities are tabulated by problem area, and public factors are ranked by strength scores. The strongest transitional needs were identified in areas of preparatory education and training, occupational information, self-actualization, worker role, job placement, mobility, and occupational mobility. There was no attempt to investigate causative factors; however, some causal inferences are drawn. Recommendations are included. (CH)
